DAMASCUS, Feb. 5.—"Farming is the farmer himself, and the plans made in Columbia, Wash., D. C. Hodge, Mahoning county agent, said
the annual Damascus
institute today in the Goshen school.

The subject was "Looking Ahead
in Agriculture." He declared that the future of agriculture had not affected farmers as territory to any extent and
that the future of agriculture depends on taking care of the land by replenishing the soil and the harvests so that new will be good."

Will Name Officers
The election of officers to serve during the coming year was scheduled afternoon, following a morning session of speeches, entertainment and presentation of poster awards
to a nominating committee to name candidates for the various offices.

The morning's meeting followed the afternoon session at the Highway patrolmen's last night at the Goshen school, where the agricultural agent for the New York railway lines, and superintendent of the agricultural exhibit gave an illustrated lecture on the subject, "Topping the Rockies."

He spoke again at the session
this morning on "Interesting Developments in Transportation."
The agent of Interest to agriculture, commenting that agriculture is changing to some extent because of the new climate foods are now being shipped to all parts of the country during the winter months.

"Transportation is important to agriculture," he declared, "and the United States has progressed more in other countries in agriculture
because of its transportation facilities."

CITY PLANNING HEADQUARTERS FOR PATROLMEN

Room to Be Established On First Floor of City Hall

$150 Is MAXIMUM
COST OF PROJECT

One Cell to Be Set Off
For Use by Women
Prisoners

The police department will have a headquarters of its own in the city hall in the near future as a result of action taken by city council last night.

Acting on a request of Safety Director C. E. Donahay, council approved plans for an appropriation of approximately $150 which, it was explained, will provide funds for remodeling purposes, all that will be necessary for the establishment of the police quarters.

It is proposed to place the police room on the first floor of the city hall building, directly under the steps leading to the second floor
on the east side of the structure.
An entrance would be cut in from the alley.

Cell for Women
At the same time, one of the four cells will be converted into a detention room for the use of women prisoners, or juveniles, in order that the latter class of prisoner may be segregated from the older men. Detention rooms for women are fixed up elsewhere
when it is necessary.

A room adapted definitely to police headquarters purposes has never been available to the department, it was pointed out. For some time, the mayor's office has been using it.

Councilman George McArthur reported that he and other city officials had made a survey of the plans and estimated that the work could be done for $150 or possibly less.

Mayor George Harroff termed the action necessary. He pointed out that special quarters had to be provided recently for three women prisoners. He stressed the fact, too, that a problem is presented when juvenile offenders are arrested. It is unwise, he said, to place them in cells with older men.

Councilman Charles Rheunant
spoke favorably for the project and sponsored a motion, seconded by Councilman C. F. Zimmerman, that the room be established.

Water Line Problem Acute
The water committee was involved in the project.

CONDON LETTER WITH HOFFMAN

"Jafsie" Early In 1932
Told Governor He Could
Identify Kidnapers

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 5.—Gov.
Harold G. Hoffman, who has directed state police to find accomplices of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, said today he has a letter
showing that as early as August, 1932, Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon, ransom intermediary, said he could "identify one or two of the kidnapers" of the Lindbergh baby.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—J.
Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation, said
today he had received a letter from H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the new New Jersey state police, asking that federal agents be assigned again to the Lindbergh kidnap-ing investigation.

S. Conklin, the governor said he had received a letter dated August 23, 1932, written by Dr. Condon to a Florida attorney, whose name was not made public.

In the letter, Conklin said Dr.
Condon wrote:

"Although I am not a police officer, I believe I could identify one or two of the kidnapers."

Conklin said the governor believed the letter "further emphasized" Dr. Condon's once expressed views that more than one person was involved in the crime.

Commissioners End
Dead Crow Payoffs

WILMINGTON, Feb. 5.—After 17
days of operation Clinton county commissioners wish to announce
they have closed their crow payoffs.
It's too expensive, they explained
today.

January 13, the commissioners appropriated $450 as a bounty on crows. It was supposed to last a year.

But they soon found the fund
depleted,—all paid out at the rate of 25 cents per crow.

"The crow business cost $26 a day for the 17 days it was in operation," commissioners said. "That's too much money, so the bounty's off."

Miss Frances Perkins

Miss Lillian Gilbreth

Warner hall, Oberlin college

Oberlin college in northern Ohio, for more than 100 years a pioneer in the field of higher education for women, has now turned its efforts to guiding the modern co-ed in finding her place in the modern world. Oberlin's Women's league signaled this movement with an institute devoted to "The Place of Women in the Modern World", at which principal speakers were Frances Perkins, secretary of labor; Mrs. Adena M. Rich, official of Hull House; Mrs. Lillian Gilbreth, home management expert, and Edith Wynne Matthison, prominent in the creative arts.

NATIONS STRIKE
AT COMMUNISTS

Fear of New Red Menace Causes Officials To Crush Groups

(By Associated Press)
Alleged communistic activities
brought raids, labor demonstrations and official denunciations in Europe, Mexico and South America
today.

Five nations of southeastern Europe—Hungary, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Austria—struck simultaneously amid warnings of a "new red menace" and attempts to arouse the public against an increase of Soviet Rus-

Danube.

Hungary Crushes Unit
Hungary crushed an organization allegedly communistic and led by Bela Kun, who headed a commu-
nistic regime in 1919.

In Bulgaria 50 persons were arrested in a series of raids and 19
gypsies were put on trial for repu-
tably communistic activity.

Rumanian, Yugoslavian and Austrian police made many raids.
Some sections of the Austrian Italy's operations in East Africa.

Grave Complications Feared As Result Of Nazi Slaying

Yugoslav Medical Student Kills Wilhelm Gustloff, Hitler Aide In Switzerland;
Later Arrested

Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press

DAVOS, Switzerland, Feb. 5.—
The political assassination of Wilhelm Gustloff, 40-year-old leader of the German Nazis in Switzerland, by a Yugoslav medical student aroused fears today of grave international complications.

The assassin, who surrendered
promptly to police, told the authorities he was David Frankfurter, a 26-year-old Jew, and that he wished to strike a blow against the Nazis.

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, Feb. 5.—Nazis of the third reich, taking the assassination of Wilhelm Gustloff as justification for their anti-semitic attitude, gave a pledge today to persist in their course against Jews in Germany.

Nazi regime to avenge sufferings
he said were inflicted on his fellow Jews in Germany.

Fires Five Shots
Police said the student told them
the bullet should have struck Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, but that he did all in his power by removing the agent who "poisoned the atmosphere here."

The slayer said he came here
from Bern, where he attended medical school, and went yesterday to the home of Gustloff, a scientist

who had lived in Davos for 20 years.
When Gustloff rose from a chair
to receive him, police quoted Frankfurter as saying, the student shot
the man down from the threshold of the Nazi's study without uttering a word.

Gustloff, a physicist, associated with the Davos observatory, was struck by five bullets and died almost immediately.

Threatens Others
The assassin first fled, threatening persons outside the apartment with his gun, but later telephoned police and was arrested.

Police said Frankfurter told them he intended to shoot himself as well, but lost courage after tramping about in the snow for a short while, and decided to surrender.

He said he did not know Gustloff
personally, but obtained the Nazi's
address from a telephone directory.
Authorities expressed fear of serious repercussions from the assassination both in Switzerland and Germany.

Gustloff, a militant Nazi, had aroused the anger of Swiss Socialists by organizing Germans in Switzerland in support of Adolf Hitler.

Anti-Nazis repeatedly had demanded expulsion of the scientist,
but the Swiss federal council decided his activities were within the law.

Borah Decision Prompts Varying Ohio Comments

COLUMBUS, Feb. 5.—Sen. Wil-

campaign in Ohio for delegates pledged to his presidential nomination drew these remarks today:

Ed D. Schorr, Republican state
chairman, declining a statement—

Under-Secretary of the Interior
Charles West, Democratic State
Chairman Francis W. Poulson, and Central Committee Chairman Earl
H. Hanefeld—"That's just what we

J. Stewart Hagen, chairman of committee—"It's something to think

Mrs. Viola D. Romans, president

fond of him myself."

Clarence J. Brown, supporter of Col. Frank Knox of Chicago—"Republican chances are good unless we get into a lot of foolish quarreling. Borah's announcement is not conducive to harmony."

Former U. S. Sen. Simeon D.
Fess, of Yellow Springs, in Washington—"It would be too bad to lose Mr. Borah from the senate."

Despite refusal to comment by Ed D. Schorr, Republican state chairman, vigorous opposition to Borah's drive was expected. Former Gov. Myers V. Cooper likewise declined comment but recalled a previous statement that if Borah
"enters this state the situation will be met."

S. P. McNaught, superintendent

clared that "Borah has our latent

"He has always stood for tem-

Mrs. Viola D. Romans, president of the Ohio Women's Christian support Borah.

POLICE REGULATIONS

Safety Director C. E. Donahay has drafted and placed in effect a set of rules and regulations for the police department. In this he had the cooperation of Mayor George Harhoff and Police Chief Ralph Stoffer and, quite likely, suggestions from the police themselves found their way into the list.

The act marks a forward step in police department operation and will meet generally with the approval of citizens.

The safety chief assigns beats, detailing almost every function, of a general nature, for the patrolman on that beat, and announces that he will expect the beat to be covered as assigned. The good policeman, of which Salem has had many, and still has, will not object to the beat details, or the regulations. That's all a part of the job and he realizes that when he operates according to regulations, he always has the department, the administration, and, as well the city back of him in any eventuality.

The general theme of service appears to be paramount throughout the regulations. They stress the fact that patrolmen, like public officers, are servants of the people. They emphasize that the protection of life and property is a primary duty. They point out, too, that these things can be done courteously. This is in accord with the new order of things generally.

Perhaps by necessity, the patrolman of days gone by was of the "knock-down-and-drag-out" variety. Our modern patrolman can still do that if called upon, but he also has the added qualities of intelligence and thinking power and, as a result, is a more efficient officer.

The safety department and patrolmen themselves are to be commended highly for cooperation in this movement for increased efficiency.

TAXATION DISGUISED

Politicians in the United States have had extraordinary success in hiding taxation. For every cent of direct taxes grudgingly given to tax collectors at least three cents are taken secretly from the careless taxpayer by hidden collections. If all the taxes could be brought into the open there would be no further need to worry about increases in the expense of government. Unfortunately, politicians are able to collect invisibly most of the money they spend visibly to please various minorities.

When expenditures run beyond the income from both direct and indirect taxes, the deficit can be added to the national debt. A large national debt, of course, a particularly vicious type of taxation, because it necessitates payment of interest on principal. Small taxpayers are not beneficiaries of interest payments; government securities are held by wealthy men and corporations, who are attracted to such securities because they are exempt from taxation.

When the national deficit, in turn, runs beyond the income from taxation, when it grows to an awkward size, inflationists step forward to shout about the advantages of inflating the currency. What they propose is the most vicious type of taxation in existence, because it preys most heavily on taxpayers who have the least economic security. Yet, by one of those ironic assurances so common in politics, inflation always is proposed as a boon to those who are its inevitable victims.

No matter how taxation may be disguised, it's still taxation. Government must collect what it spends. The honest way is to levy direct taxes. The conventional way is to make the taxes invisible. The desperate way is to accumulate a huge deficit. The suicidal way is to resort to inflating. Yet, there are in Washington congressmen who, having learned nothing and forgotten nothing, are considering inflation seriously. More tragic than that is the fact they are getting what seems to be sympathetic attention from other congressmen who, if they don't know better, should be taught better by their constituents.

Credit will have to be given Jim Farley for remarkable self-restraint. So far he hasn't claimed Roosevelt will be reelected by a unanimous vote.

THE STARS SAY

For Thursday, February 6

While the general tenor of the events of this day will be active and exciting, yet the planetary aspects are adverse. There is likely to be active opposition, disputes and disruptions, not only of the plans but possibly of the environs, which, if rashly undertaken, may prove detrimental. Be wary of strangers, strange propositions and shun speculation. With much sagacity and cautious decisions, there is opportunity for a signal triumph.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year which will put to the test their acumen, patience and cleverness. While there are excellent opportunities, yet there are adverse influences, hostility and duplicity to contend with, as well as personal inclinations to impulsive moves. Shun speculation, untried propositions and strangers. Travel with caution.

A child born on this day may be clever and talented, but headstrong, impulsive, erratic and difficult to understand. With proper youthful supervision, it may have a brilliant career.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—One of the staunch father-and-son companionships is between Will H. Hays and Will H. Hays, Jr. The son is now a student at Wabash, the Indiana college of which his father is an alumnus, and expects to read law as did his parent. He has shown talent in public speaking.

Letters pass between them daily and there is a weekly long distance chat over the telephone. During vacation periods they usually go on hunting trips or enjoy a round of theaters in New York. Neither does anything of importance without taking it up together.

Such an exchange of confidence has brought about a rare understanding in such relationships. Their handwritings are so similar that few can distinguish them, and aside from a striking facial resemblance the tilts of their hats and their walk bear a similarity.

Young Hays is 20. When in his teens his frailty became a matter of concern. He began a systematic routine of swimming, horseback riding and other athletics, including boxing, that rounded him into sturdy health. He has won several swimming medals.

To many born elsewhere nothing is so typically New Yorkish as the hurdy-gurdy and its banishment is a twinge. Next to the hansom cab the barrel organ somehow seemed the most thoroughly metropolitan symbol. The piano mandolin tunes might be just so much noise to esthetic ears but to the majority they are a pleasant chirp in the vast roar. On a soft, summer evening in a quiet block, the strains brought tired women to window sills for moments of reverie and brief dreamy escapes from drudgery. For the old grinders, pathetically worn, it was scant living at best. The ban strikes hardest in the slums where for a few pennies children could fling their heels in sidewalk paterello. Will Rogers had a hurdy-gurdy in his Beverly Hills home.

New Racket: Coat room attendants in cahoots with second-hand clothing dealers are paid a price for labels snipped from garments fashioned by reputable tailors. In most cases the labels are cut out with scissors, a piece of the lining included. The price, depending on the fame of the tailor, ranges from 50 cents to $1.

The Casino in the park remains in status quo. The ultimate fate depending on the courts. Designed for the fat purse, just as Pre-Catelan and Armonville in the Bois, it was an ad at least for restaurant opulence. Before it went helix-ho it was a catch-as-catch-can place, mostly for sailors and their gals. The park has a moderately priced restaurant in Tavern-on-the-Green, on the site of the old sheep pen, but judging from its bleak appearance it's not doing so well.

Rudy Vallee's physical stamina is one of the astonishing phenomena of the swiftly paced crowd always on the go. His radio choral alone is one of enormous detail, and added to that are his eight appearances weekly as the featured player in White's revue. Despite all this, he rarely misses a social gathering, often taking in several a night after the play. His only exercise, I am told, is a few minutes of setting-up routine on arising. He dines mostly alone in a different restaurant nightly, where the meal becomes a constant interruption of autograph seeking. Only his smile appears a little forced and weary.

Jack Dempsey's eyesight has survived a period of grave concern. Head punches he received in the fights with Gene Tunney were largely responsible. There was a brief interlude of total ring blindness during the last battle and since then he has had periods of blurred vision. But specialists say he is now out of the woods.

Another famous pair, The Irwins, Will and Inez Hayes, have proved, like Charles and Kathleen Norris, the Sinclair Lewises, the Rupert Hugheses and Florence Rierson and Collins Clement that two writers can live in accord and pursue the same trade. Recently each of the Irwins had a book published the same day. They dined in celebration at the Brevort with a wine toast. Nice.

They were discussing pinacles in non-sequitur. My choice remains the odd job man in our town who, sun-napping in front of the general store, stirred, yawned and observed apropos of nothing whatever: "I wish I had as much money as I know where the court house is."

NEURALGIA

This is the time of the year when any one of us may be subjected to undue exposure, sudden drafts and chilling of the body. For this reason the number of sufferers from neuralgia is now on the increase.

Neuralgia as its name implies is pain in a nerve. It is indeed a distressing ailment. Many theories are advanced to account for neuralgia pain. It is probably due to congestion or inflammation of the affected structure. One or more nerves may be involved, but in most instances the pain is confined to the area supplied by one nerve.

At times the neuralgia pain does not subside, but persists for a long time. In some cases it is traced to prolonged or repeated colds, bronchitis, infected tonsils, teeth or nasal sinuses, or to some other center of infection. It may be a complication of some constitutional disease. Elderly persons are the ones most likely to develop this condition.

As a rule the sufferer describes the pain as a throbbing one, confined to the course of the infected nerve. It is a constant pain or it may "come and go" and sometimes is so severe as to require the taking of an opiate.

Don't Neglect It

Usually it is in the face, head, neck or shoulders. It is most frequently encountered in the shoulders and arms.

A rare but distressing form is the type known as "facial neuralgia". In this form the "trifacial" or "facial nerve" is involved. The pain is excruciating, disabling the sufferer for several days or weeks. Fortunately, this form of neuralgia is not common.

Neglect of neuralgia is the rule of the human race. This is especially so when the attacks are mild in their nature. Such neglect is unfortunate, because continued irritation and inflammation will, in a sense, weaken the nerve and make it increasingly difficult to get rid of the trouble.

It is a pity that too many persons fail to value health until it is lost. They rarely consult a doctor or seek medical advice unless the pain or trouble, whatever it is, becomes unbearable.

Take stock of your body and its organs. If, for example, you are a victim of neuralgia pain consult with your doctor. Bear in mind that what you think is neuralgia may be some other trouble. Only your doctor can determine the truth.

Draw Pen Terms

CLEVELAND, Feb. 5—George Sargent and Anthony Labrizetti, of Akron, were sentenced to 25 years each in a federal penitentiary late yesterday by Federal Judge Samuel West, who overruled a motion for a new trial on charges of robbing the United States mails at Warren in April, 1935.

Marc J. Wolpaw, counsel for the pair, said an appeal would be made. Sargent and Labrizetti were convicted by a jury last week. It was their second trial, the first verdict convicting them having been set aside on the ground that the jury had not deliberated long enough. More than $120,000 was taken in the mail truck robbery.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. The parts become weak, flabby and lifeless. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting often fail. Dr. Leonhardt's medicine, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it relieves congestion, restores circulation, helps to heal and strengthen the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Druggists everywhere sell HEM-ROID with this guarantee.

"HIGH SCHOOL TRAGEDY"

by MAXINE CANTY

SYNOPSIS

Julie Martin, at 17, becomes the "inside" observer of the murder investigation of the former French teacher, the pretty Constance "Connie" Sinclair, who was not dead in her apartment but was "inside" because after school hours she is office assistant to Principal Perkins and the latter has detailed her as stenographer for Police Inspector O'Brien, who is busy examining suspects and others among those questioned, are the herself and her boy friend, Dick Ward, who was with her when she returned a pen to Connie a few hours before the tragedy. Mrs. Sardoni, manager of the apartment house in which "Connie" was killed, Principal Perkins, Melvin Wright, the school's "problem boy," Hym, a Filipino janitor, who had been discharged for insubordination to "Connie" and who was missing since her death; Bruce Lloyd, her former fiancé, who refuses to say where he was on the murder night; George Carrington, also expected to be a former suitor, who seems to have a perfect right to the fatal night but admits to the police that his wife has been missing since that evening. Julie's father has become convinced that the authorities are anxious to get in touch with Mrs. Carrington, as Julie proceeds with her "inside" story:

CHAPTER VII

Well, I must say that things were rather bad for Mrs. Carrington the next morning. Even my mother pursed her lips when Dad told about her in the morning paper. Of course I had said nothing about it to the family the night before. I couldn't betray the trust Inspector seemed to have in me. I do not know when anything has thrilled me so much as that big, important detective had confided in me, as it were. I even resisted the impulse to tell the kids at school about it, although it was a struggle, especially when Helen assumed the "I-told-you-so" attitude about Mrs. Carrington. Most of the girls thought her disappearance settled everything; they were ready right then to sentence her. But I had learned from my brief contact with the detective methods of the Inspector not to be sure on mere appearances. "I don't think," I said, "that her disappearing shows she is guilty. It might be that she was just mad about George for being away all day Sunday."

"And mad at Connie for keeping him," added Helen. "Don't forget that she had a pretty good idea where he was after talking to Connie the week before."

"Maybe she even followed him to St. Joseph's," exclaimed Patzy. "Well, if she were so murderous, why did she wait until Thursday night to kill her then?" As I asked the question I felt pretty triumphant.

Helen spoiled it by saying, "Perhaps she's the kind of person who doesn't act impulsively, but broods over things until she gets kind of crazy about them. This is what I think happened: Mrs. Carrington was furious when she left Connie after their row, but she had a long way to drive since they live in Burdine; so by the time she reached home, she decided to see what effect her visit would have before she pounced on George. But Sunday he left her again for the whole day practically, and she made up her mind to find out about it. Of course, she probably had to take the car, as he had the car. She may have arrived here until after dark. Perhaps she went to the cafe across the street from Connie's apartment and stood while she watched for George's car to appear."

As Helen related this her eyes shined with the excitement of a story-teller, and most of the girls listened breathlessly when she went on:

"Then Connie and Mrs. Carrington's husband drove up. You know Connie says something in her letter about a scene in the car. But he made love to her right there, and his wife saw it. So she stumbled away in the dark and went somewhere to nurse her wounds. Only, instead of nursing them, she brooded over them until she came back late Thursday night and shot the other woman!"

"You make it sound like one of those old Biograph movies," they draw out and show once in a while. "I commented. The other girls looked at me reproachfully; they had loved it. I must admit it was surprising how much of Helen's melodrama proved true later, though. Before they could jump all over me for being crazy, the warning bell rang. We had to scurry to make our classes. So it was lunch time before we talked again. Mrs. Carrington was the only topic of conversation. I did not listen too much for I was wondering about the book, and what the Inspector had found out about it.

"Perhaps Mrs. Carrington went to the cafe across the street from Connie's home . . . to watch George's car parked outside" . . .

I did not have to wait long to know. As the five of us came across the street to the high school after lunch, the Inspector came out of the main door. He saw me and waited. Did my heart pound as he called to me in front of all the kids on the grounds? I was simply the cynosure of all eyes as I went to speak to him.

"Well, Miss Julie," he began, "I have talked to Miss Sass and Miss Whelton. They don't seem to know much about the book, except that Miss Sass thinks she remembers seeing it that afternoon just as you do."

He paused a minute. "You have kept all this to yourself?"

"Yes, sir."

"Keep it up, Julie. You may be able to help me. I have an appointment with Mr. Perkins this afternoon after school. If you can find anything to do in the office, you might stick around."

"Yes, sir."

"Perkins seems to be out now. I'll be back. And by the way, did you know that Perkins and Miss Sinclair were friends, outside of school, I mean?"

"No, sir."

"Hm. Miss Whelton says that he called to see her fairly often. Now mind that you are to show me you can keep your eyes open and your mouth shut tight!"

"Oh, I will, sir!"

He smiled. "Goodbye, Miss Julie."

I tried to look nonchalant as I joined the girls at the door, but my heart was pounding inside. To think that the Inspector trusted me enough to tell me the inside dope on the high school teachers; I felt almost solemn about my responsibilities, for I realized that I not only had to guard his trust, but that I might even stumble across the solution of the mystery!

The girls were simply ga-ga naturally, and my first job was to throw them off the trail. I just told them he had questioned me some more about the call Dicky and I made on Miss Sinclair. They were quiet impressed by my importance; I could see; even Helen was respectful to me. We went on into the building, past the principal's office on our way to our lockers. The

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable of native mild and pleasant.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels to act normally. They never force their unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" or bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache caused by constipation—you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Travelers Club Concludes Interesting Study Of Africa

Papers Are Presented by Members; Display of "Hobbies" To Feature Next Week's Meet

Completing the study of Africa, an extensive program was presented by members of the Travelers club at the meeting yesterday afternoon in the assembly room of the public library.

Mrs. W. E. Bunn talked on "Great Names in African History," going back to Biblical times for her first names. She told the story of Jacob and his son Joseph, who was sold as a slave to the Egyptians by his jealous brothers and finally became governor of that land. She traced the increased unhappy state of the Hebrews after Joseph until the leader, Moses, was born. The story of Moses' birth at a time when all Jewish babies were doomed to die by Herod, king of Egypt, and Moses' escape from that fate until he led the children of Israel to the Promised Land was told by Mrs. Bunn.

Mrs. Bunn named two famous men of recent years of African history, one David Livingstone, a Scotch boy, who was first a medical missionary and then a preacher of the gospel in Africa. He is now buried in Westminster Abbey. The other is the Emperor of Ethiopia, Haile Selassie. A paper on "The Partition of Africa by the Nations of the World" was given by Mrs. M. M. Sandrock, who told of the fight by European powers through the centuries to gain control of the continent. She told of the struggle between the invaders and the natives and later themselves. Liberia and Ethiopia are the only two nations of the many on the African continent who have maintained their independence and how long Ethiopia will continue to do so is a matter of conjecture, she said.

"African Art" was the subject of a paper by Miss Grace P. Orr, the earliest beginnings of the types of African art, their progress and their preservation until the present day. The first Egyptian art was influenced by the ancestor form of worship. Tombs and monuments are still to be seen as examples of that type. The pyramids of Egypt, tombs of the Pharaohs, are filled with many kinds of art relics, many of great value.

The book, "My Farm in Lion Country," written by Joyce Boyd, was reviewed by Mrs. Floyd McKee. The author and her husband went to make their home in Tanganyika, 500 miles south of Ethiopia. Her home in that country was located 50 miles from the railroad station and was called "The Tin Shed." She described her life there and the difficulties encountered in making a comfortable home in such a place and ended by declaring that the hardships and troubles were more than made up for by the advantages, such as fine big game hunting and the ability to appreciate small blessings which is a lesson the country and life there teaches people.

Mrs. G. W. Bunn, president, announced that in connection with next week's meeting on "Hobbies" there will be a display of hobbies. Harold Williams, principal of the Junior High school, will address members on "Stamps from South of Zero."

Mrs. T. E. Miller was in charge of the program, the theme for which was, "Daughters of Drudgery," from the study book, "Women Under the Southern Cross." Three countries were included in that topic, Bolivia, Paraguay and Chile. The countries were discussed by Miss Blanche Fulton, Mrs. F. J. Stouder and Mrs. McCorkhill, respectively. Mrs. Hart reviewed an article, "The Friendly Cruise," from the missionary paper, "The Friend."

Tennis Frocks That Will Score

These Models Are Practical, But They Have New Sport Charm

By MARIE MAROT

TENNIS frocks have taken on a new charm and winsomeness without losing any of their practical characteristics. No longer do we have to don just any old sports frock or a brief skirt and sweater in order to do right by our game. Any shop will show lovely tennis frocks marked at most sensible prices, frocks that will be just as good next summer as they are down in Florida or in California right now. The top model is available in either silk or jersey and is made with a broad vest girdle on which are set skirt and bodice. The skirt is gored and smartly flared, and the bodice has a deep V in back. The other model is of white pique and has diagonal breast and hip pockets, with buttons and belt buckle of mother of pearl. Gored skirt and deep V of the bodice are other features.

HOME MAKING HELPS

IF YOU are planning to buy something for a wedding present or an anniversary, you shouldn't find it difficult to find just the right sort of gift nowadays.

Never have the shops been more filled with beautiful merchandise offered at most reasonable prices. Good taste and splendid workmanship characterize most of the things on display just now, so that even if one spends a most modest sum one can still choose a gift that is useful or beautiful or both.

Of things for the house, your own or someone else's, there is a large and happy variety. For instance, for well under a dollar each, there are lovely cheese or bread boards cut from natural finish woods and done so that they look just like enlarged animal crackers. Then there are leaf and fish designs. A set of these would make a splendid gift. Trays are always in demand and an especially nice one is a folding stand, built on the principle of a luggage rack. The tray is removable and has well-arranged partitions. It is a great aid to the hospitable hostess.

Things for the festive table are always welcome. One fine glass works has turned out some exquisite candelabra with new designs and lovely detail. Singly or together, with or without prisms, these crystal-clear candelabra are lovely. We all know that nothing brings out the beauty of the hostess, the guests or the table, than does soft candlelight. These glass candelabra are most modestly priced.

Clocks never have been more handsome, more original in design and material, and more reasonably priced. Just ask to see them and you'll be able to get a good deal of shopping done. A lovely clock has a deep blue disc with stars taking the place of figures. Another is done like a sundial, while a nice model that would be good for a boy's room has a dial of copper with base, hands and raised hour markers in polished brass.

Useful Gadgets

Quite amusing and no end useful, if you live in a state where there is a sales tax, are charming little pineapples of pottery in bright yellow with green leaves. Although so ornamental, they are really penny banks. They are nice for any table, even a dressing table where one will be reminded constantly to drop in those spare pennies. Also in pottery are lovely salt and pepper shakers, a gay Mexican couple done in vivid Mexican colors. Just the thing for a party table.

Another quite inexpensive gift is a wooden lamp painted in happy colors, a figure of Alice of the fabulous adventures in wonderland. The prim little figure, with parchment lamp shedding soft light over her shoulders and hair, it would be just the thing for any little girl, especially one just promoted to a room of her own.

Lamps are always good, especially so this year, because there are so many new and fascinating things. Modernistic lamps of chromium and wood old standbys of pottery or glass, clever designs, beautiful shades in all sorts of fabrics, offer a wide variety. A pair of tiny clear glass lamps cut in the pattern of Waterford glass, with white homespun shades trimmed in blue or brown or red, would find a welcome in any home. A single column of fluted wood, set off by a shade of corduroy velvet in beige, is a novel lamp.

For a novel gift, what about a container of that paint that is so perfumed that it is guaranteed to give the closet in which it is used a well-nigh lasting odor? Rather expensive to be sure, but worthy of that best friend upon whom you want to bestow something special. Ash trays are always useful and they are available in various designs. Many new ones are so constructed that they snuff out lighted cigarettes.

The problem in recent weeks has become acute, and while officials pointed out that in most cases the obligation rested with the property owners themselves, it was their desire to provide as much help as funds will permit.

The solons took occasion to laud the efforts of Service Director Frank Wilson and department employees in cleaning off Main street. ## G. O. P. IN OHIO MUM ON BORAH

Drys Welcome Senator's Campaign For State Delegates

Earl H. Hanefeld, who had just conferred on choice of Ohio delegates to the Democratic convention.
Clarence J. Brown, leading Knox supporter in Ohio, described Borah's announcement as "not conducive to harmony" and said he was of the "firm opinion" that Knox would take whatever steps were necessary to protect his interests in Ohio.
Knox has made speeches at Columbus, Cleveland, and Dayton and is scheduled for a fourth at Cincinnati.

Schorr said he believed a report that Knox already had entered Ohio for delegates was "incorrect." He added that in view of Brown's statement, early entrance by Knox was possible but did not "necessarily follow."
"I am confident," Schorr said, "Knox has not expressed determination to enter."
Brown said he would confer with Knox in Cincinnati tomorrow.
Ohio law requires pledging delegates. A presidential candidate must give written consent to each would-be convention delegate. The delegate candidate then must obtain nominating petitions before being placed on the ballot.

Most of Major League Baseball Teams to Be Stronger At Mid-Field

Number of Outstanding Youngsters Making Names For Themselves At Center; Tris Speaker Is Still the Best

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—From a pitcher's standpoint—and you can accept the word of Robert Moses Grove as typical—it's always reassuring to look around and see a rainy fellow in center field capable of cutting off base hits and otherwise fortifying the primary line of defense.

"Many a ball game can be saved by the guy in center field," says Lefty. "For that reason it will be comforting to have Doc Cramer on the job for the Red Sox this season. He can sure go get 'em."

Tris Speaker is still the yardstick by which all center fielders are measured and there are none in the major now who can equal the "great spoke". Nevertheless, Cramer is one of a number of outstanding youngsters making reputations for themselves. Others include Hank Leiber of the Giants, Terry Moore of the Cardinals and Jake Powell of the Washington Senators.

Tigers Not Worried
If Al Simmons makes a batting comeback, as the Tigers have every reason to expect him to do, the world champions will not have to worry about center field any longer. The Chicago Cubs figure their outfield will be stronger with Frank Demaree moving to center to replace Freddy Lindstrom.

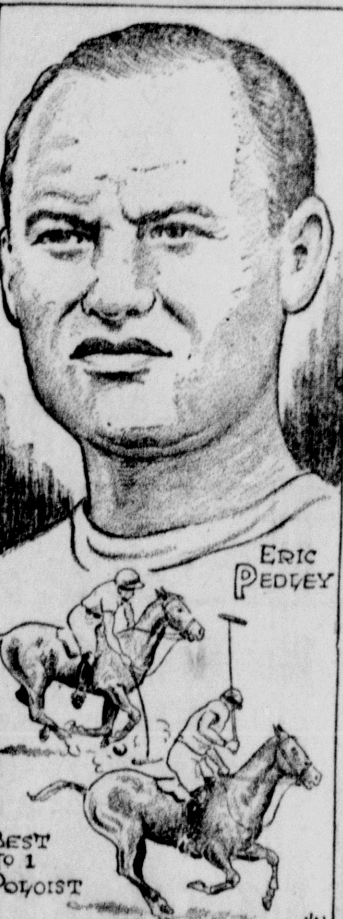

To fill the temporary gap created by the illness of Lloyd (Little Poison) Waner, the Pirates obtained Fred Schulte from Washington. Waner was the top-ranking center-fielder in the league last season on defense and will be missed.

With the veteran Earle Combs through, the New York Yankees expect to rely on the fleet Ben Chapman for all the center-fielding needed. Earl Averill will handle the job for Cleveland.

METHODISTS ON TOP IN CLASS B LEAGUE CONTEST

Place Themselves in Lead For First Round Championship

Placing themselves in the lead for the first round championship of the Class B city basketball league, the Methodists humiliated the Columbian quintet, 37 to 25, at the Memorial building last night. It was the Methodists' sixth victory as against one defeat in league play so far this season and with the first round coming to an end this week, the Baptist five is the only team of the loop that can edge them out of the championship picture.

A victory for the Baptist quintet tonight would give it a tie with the Methodists for the first round honors and call for a play-off Friday to decide the championship.

Even Terms
The Methodists played on even terms with the Columbians during the first period of their contest last night and then began their victory march in the second frame. C. Weigand led the scoring with 14 points.

In the other Class B tilt, the Baptists counted themselves in for at least a shot at the title when they defeated the Saxons, 25 to 18. A slow first period in this contest, in which both teams only scored two points, was followed by lively play in the second quarter to send the Baptists out in front at half-time, 12 to 5. The Snyder brothers, Ralph and "Tunney" combined with Faxon to do most of the scoring for the Baptists.

At the Memorial building tonight, the Columbians will attempt to gain a tie for the round championship in the Class A league when they meet the Trojans. The contest promises to be one of the best played in the Class A loop so far this season.

Hardy's foot separated three famous milers at the finish as Joe Mangan (left) former Cornell star, amazed spectators at New York Millrose games by breasting the tape in 4:11 for the Wanamaker Mile, beating both Gene Venzke (center) of Pennsylvania and Glenn Cunningham (right) of Kansas who ran third.

Wins Speed Skating Crown

Kit Klein, Buffalo stenographer and United States national women's skating champion, annexed the women's world speed skating title at Stockholm, Sweden, when she took first in the 500 and 3,000-meter events and finished third in the 1,000-meter race.

Athletes Make Final Preparation For Opening of Winter Olympics

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 5.—A thousand athletes from 28 countries groomed equipment and took final practice turns in the cold, bracing weather that finally arrived for the opening tomorrow of the fourth winter Olympic games.

Performances were checked, skates and sled runners were sharpened, and skis waxed once more for the formal tests for which many of the athletes had been preparing for four years.

Some of the contestants who have been here for weeks after disappointing mild weather, welcomed a cold spell that arrived two days ago.

The American ice hockey team were just in from France. The speed skaters who had been racing in Switzerland, and the figure skating team were also late arrivals.

RECORDING one of the largest scores in intramural competition to date, the Hicks trounced the Shags, 51 to 18. Swaney collected 20 of the Hicks' points.

THE Buckeyes rallied in the second half to trim the Spurs, 23 to 9. GRAMA was outstanding, although all of the Dukes found the hoop in downing the Misfits, 25 to 15.

RICE and Hutcherson shared scoring honors in the Aces' 29 to 12 win over the Falcons.

GOOD pass work enabled the Skippers to spank the Rough Riders, 37 to 10.

CASEY STENGEL HUNTS PLAYERS AT LEAGUE MEET

Brooklyn Dodgers' Manager Involved In Several Trade Rumors

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The National league schedule meeting is over, but trade talk lingers on—especially in the vicinity of Ebbets field.

At almost every turn yesterday while the magnates were gathering to adopt the schedule and iron out a few other matters, there was Casey Stengel, the Brooklyn Dodger manager, in a huddle with a manager or club owner.

Wants Batterymen
Casey, it seems, is angling for a couple of batterymen and to get them is willing to give up Sambo Leslie, his clouting first baseman, and perhaps toss in a few of his spare outfielders. Bill Terry of the Giants, who would be content to warm the bench this season if he could find a capable substitute, would like to see Leslie filling his shoes—that is if it wouldn't cost him one of his two catchers, Gus Mancuso or Harry Danning.

The trade winds also waited around the Boston Beehive and the Phillies bullwark but when the bargaining was over no deals had been made.

It was evident from the lobby quotations that most of the owners were pricing their own players pretty high while putting low estimates on their rivals' ivory.

The Giant-Dodger negotiations reached the point where the New York President, Horace Stoneham, offered cash but no players for Leslie, but Stengel feels that he needs man power badly at the moment.

Following the opening ceremony tomorrow morning, hockey will complete the first day's program and no other sport is scheduled until the first ski events are run off Friday.

The two-man bob races and women's ski events further expand the program Saturday.

MARIETTA ADDS TO WIN STREAK

Pioneers Gain Eighth Consecutive Victory Over Muskies

Marietta college cagers extended their unbroken Ohio conference winning streak to eight straight games last night and remained securely on top of the race for the championship. Muskingum was the victim and the score 40 to 25.

Other games on Ohio courts ended as follows: Akron 45, Ashland 23; Kent State 43, Hiram 26; Mount Union 54, John Carroll 32; Marshall 38, Dayton 27. The Heidelberg-Bowling Green game was cancelled.

Muskingum developed a tight defense which held Marietta's center, Fenton, who has averaged 21 points per game, to a mere nine points. The teams were on even terms in the first half, which ended with the score 10-all. The game was played at New Concord.

Drop To Cellar
Dayton's defeat put the flyers at the bottom of the Buckeye conference standings. Dayton led at the half, 22 to 15, but faced a vastly improved Marshall team in the second period.

At Ashland the Akron Zippers had little difficulty in their fourth Ohio conference victory. It was Ashland's tenth defeat in eleven starts. Kent State took an early lead over Hiram and was ahead all the way. Roy Pinyoun of Cleveland, Kent Center, paced his team with eleven points.

At Alliance, Mount Union trampled all over John Carroll with 60 points, including nine straight free throws without a miss. The bewildered Cleveland outfit was out of the running soon after the game began. At the half the score was Mount Union 35, Carroll 19.

The Heidelberg-Bowling Green game was cancelled when Bowling Green authorities found the roads too icy to attempt the trip to Tiffin.

Theater Attractions

The kidnapping of the richest woman in the world furnishes exciting material for the plot in "Three Kids and a Queen," starring May Robson. This comedy-drama will be shown at the State theater Thursday only. The "three kids" are portrayed by Billy Burd, William Benedict and Frankie Darro. Others in the cast are Henry Armetta, remembered and liked for his Italian roles, Charlotte Henry and John Miljan.

Portrays Wealthy Woman

Miss Robson is seen as an eccentric, crabbed old maid, the wealthiest woman in the world, her relatives, in an attempt to get control of her wealth, have declared her insane and have asked for a sanity hearing.

She meets the "three kids" in an accident, in which she is rendered unconscious, and taken by the boys to their home. This home is a basement flat in the rear of Henry Armetta's barber shop, their adopted father. Conspiring and growing to like her surroundings where she really is loved and needed, the old lady refuses to leave.

The newspaper sensation over her supposed kidnapping keeps the family in constant worry. Then she is discovered by gangsters and actually kidnapped. Frankie Darro, pretending he wants to cut in with the gangsters on the ransom, plans to save Miss Robson. He nearly loses his life for the old lady he loves but his efforts lead police to the hideout where they discover and capture the gang and save Miss Robson.

Goes Back To Kids

She goes back to her home to face another lunacy examination demanded by her relatives. Her new found friends get her paroled into their custody and she goes back to live with Henry Armetta and the "three kids" with herself as "queen" of the flock.

Tonight at the State is the last opportunity to see the double feature bill offering a crime drama and a comedy. Walter Connolly in "Soak the Rich" proves his ability as a comedian, portraying a multi-millionaire nearly driven crazy by his daughter and all the "soak the rich" ideas of the government. Mary Taylor plays the daughter and John Howard a young man with anarchist ideas.

"Show Them No Mercy" presents a vivid picture of an innocent couple, and their baby held hostages by a vicious gang of criminals. The film is another step in the anti-crime war being waged by motion pictures. The gangsters here are not presented as glorified, fascinating heroes, but in their true light, deserving "no mercy." Rochelle Hudson and Edward Norris depict the married couple. The racketeers are played by Bruce Cabot, Cesar Romero and Walter Hymer.

Mrs. Allman Aids Building Expansion For 22 Institutions

COLUMBUS, Feb. 5.—State Welfare Director Margaret Allman, declaring Ohio's 22 state institutions were badly over-crowded, urged a building expansion program today.

As of Dec. 31, she said, the population of institutions was nearly 3,000 more than the normal capacity of 33,524. The overflow, she continued, is expensive to the state and makes impossible adequate treatment for inmates. Consequently, she said, recovery is retarded and the inmates remain state burdens for a longer time.

She urged full development of the state institution for the feeble-minded at Apple Creek to permit care of 1,400 persons on the waiting list and relieve overcrowding in other institutions. This development, she estimated, would cost $2,000,000.

She also advocated construction of a hospital for the insane in northern Ohio to care for 500 surplus patients in Cuyahoga county. This would cost between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, she said.
